- The rollover must occur within 60 days of the distribution.

WHO SHOULD FILE INCOME TAXES

NATIONAL RESOURCE CENTER
ACHIEVING A BETTER LIFE EXPERIENCE ACT

Minimum Income Filing Requirements May Not be Helpful to Low Income Households or to People Who Have a Disability

- Best Practice: A person who has a disability and works, should file income taxes regardless of the earned income amount;
- Some people who have a disability and work may receive W2s others may receive 1099s – even though they may not consider themselves to be self-employed;
- A person who has a disability who receives SSI and files income taxes and pays FICA, may eventually become eligible for SSDI and qualify for SSA Retirement and Medicare based upon their work history. For 2024, each time a person earns $1,730 they have earned a quarter of coverage towards their SSDI/Retirement.

Tax Filing is Critical

- Filing a tax return is the only way to claim a tax credit or receive a tax refund for taxes already paid.
- You could get future economic impact (stimulus) payments faster.
- If you file and are due a refund, you could use that money to pay any back taxes and/or SSA overpayments that you might owe. This is a way to make sure your credit is the best it can be so that you can qualify for affordable credit when needed.
- Tax filing reduces the risk of identity theft should someone else use your information to file a fraudulent return.

ABLE TAX DEDUCTIONS, INCENTIVES AND REFUNDS

NATIONAL RESOURCE CENTER
ACHIEVING A BETTER LIFE EXPERIENCE ACT

People with Disabilities and Taxes

The IRS has Information for People with Disabilities qualifying for certain, federal tax deductions, income exclusions and tax credits.

- Tax credits may be state or federal. They reduce the income tax owed dollar-for-dollar, and some may result in a refund. All or a portion of the refund may be saved in the ABLE account.

Recovery Rebate Credit and Economic Impact Payments

People who are still missing a stimulus payment for 2021 may go to Recovery Rebate Credit to see if they are eligible.

A person who is eligible would need to file an amended income tax return for 2021 to receive this payment.

Child Tax Credit

- The Child Tax Credit helps families with qualifying children get a tax break.
- Those who did not work in 2021, or who had worked in 2022 and had a child in their household under the age of 18, may be eligible for Child Tax Credits by filing amended income taxes for 2021 or 2022 due to special Child Tax Credit law applicable to Tax Year 2022.
- Note: This may be up to $3,600 per child; depending on the age of the child(ren) and the filing year.

Child and Dependent Care Tax Credit

- The child and dependent care credit is a tax credit that may help you pay for the care of eligible children and other dependents (qualifying persons).
- KEY - Age exception – if a person (spouse, dependent) is incapable of self care and lives with the taxpayer for more than ½ the year – there is no age limit.
- The credit is calculated based on your income and a percentage of expenses that you incur for the care of qualifying persons to enable you to go to work, look for work or attend school.
- You may claim this credit even if you paid for these work-related expenses as a qualified disability expense from your ABLE account!

Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC)

(Slide 1 of 2)

- The Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) helps low- to moderate-income workers and families get a tax break. If you qualify, you can use the credit to reduce the taxes you owe and maybe increase your refund.
- A person needs to have earned income from employment to be eligible and needs to file income taxes to get the credit or refund.

Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC)

(Slide 2 of 2)

- Eligibility for the Earned Income Tax Credit was expanded in 2021 and 2022 only.
- A person may be eligible to a claim by filing amended income taxes for 2021 and/or 2022 if they had no previously claimed their EITC.
- The IRS offers a EITC Assistant to help people see if they are eligible for years 2021, 2022 and/or 2023.
- Please note, a person does not need to have a child to qualify for EITC.
- An adult child who has a disability may qualify as a dependent child for EITC regardless of their age if permanently and totally disabled.

ABLE AND INCOME TAX SCENARIOS

NATIONAL RESOURCE CENTER
ACHIEVING A BETTER LIFE EXPERIENCE ACT

Case Scenario 1 (Slide 1 of 3)

Juanita, a 30-year-old ABLE account owner who is not currently working.

QUESTION: Does Juanita need to file taxes because they have an ABLE account?

Case Scenario 1 (Slide 2 of 3)

ANSWER:

Juanita does not need to file taxes simply because they have an ABLE account. If a person hasn't worked, but receives disability payments from Social Security Administration, or has retirement income, investment earnings, and/or dividends from non-ABLE accounts, or if their income is over IRS limits, they may need to file income taxes.

Even if a person is not required to file by law, they may choose to file a Federal income tax return to claim deductions or tax credits, and that may result in a refund. If a person decides to become employed to meet their goals and to save more money in an ABLE account, they should consider filing even if they are not required to file.

Case Scenario 1 (Slide 3 of 3)

ABLE Tax Time Tip:

File income taxes for 2023 even if you did not have “enough” earned income from employment to have to file.

This may help those who receive SSI or no disability benefit now, to eventually qualify for SSDI and retirement benefits in the future.

Case Scenario 2 (Slide 1 of 3)

Bob receives Supplemental Security Income (SSI). They have a job coach and have received 1099s at the end of each year for the last 5 years that they worked.

QUESTION: Does Bob need to file income taxes?

Case Scenario 2 (Slide 2 of 3)

ANSWER:

Yes, Bob should file income taxes and pay FICA taxes each year worked.

If Bob missed filing, they may file income taxes now for 2023, 2022, 2021 and 2020. The same rule applies to a right to claim tax credits.

Bob may either owe income taxes or receive a refund due to tax credits they may be eligible for. Sometimes a tax refund can offset taxes that had been owed to the IRS.

Bob should also contact SSA and report their earnings for each month. SSA can then record earnings for Bob for up to the last 3 years. Filing income taxes for employment earnings, paying FICA and reporting earned income to SSA may qualify a person for SSDI, retirement and Medicare based upon their earned income.

Case Scenario 2 (Slide 3 of 3)

- If Bob owes the IRS or SSA money, they may use ABLE funds to repay the IRS and SSA, or they could negotiate a repayment plan and use her earnings to repay the IRS and SSA.
- IRS taxes and SSA overpayments may be repaid with ABLE account funds; these are examples of qualified disability expenses.
- Best practice: use income to repay the IRS, SSA and creditors to allow ABLE account investment funds to continue to grow tax-free.

ABLE Decision Guide:

Determining whether something is a Qualified Disability Expense

Case Scenario 3 (Slide 1 of 3)

Manuel works part time and now qualifies for SSDI instead of SSI.

QUESTION: Manuel is wondering if they need to be claimed as a dependent on their parent's income taxes?

Case Scenario 3 (Slide 2 of 3)

- Answer: It depends, families make this decision together, based upon several factors.
- If Manuel is not a dependent, they may qualify for tax credits now that they work and deposit some of their employment earnings into their ABLE account.

Case Scenario 3 (Slide 3 of 3)

BEST PRACTICES FOR ABLE AND TAX FILING NEXT STEPS AND RESOURCES

NATIONAL RESOURCE CENTER
ACHIEVING A BETTER LIFE EXPERIENCE ACT

New Credits for Employer Contributions

- Small businesses with 50 or fewer employees will receive a new tax credit based on a percentage of employer contributions, up to $1,000 per employee (excluding employer contributions as elective deferrals under Code Sec. 402(g)(3) or to a defined benefit plan under Code Sec. 414(j)). This credit, which caps at $1,000 per employee, phases down gradually over five (5) years and is subject to further reductions for employers with 51 to 100 employees.
- Employer contributions to ABLE are treated as compensation and may impact benefits.
- Earned income that is deposited into an ABLE account is still countable earned income for ABLE account owners.

Best Practice: ABLÉ Account Owner's Employment

The Social Security Administration (SSA) encourages SSI and SSDI recipients to work to their fullest ability.

- There are SSI and SSDI work supports that can help a person to work and earn more while keeping their SSI, SSDI, Medicaid and/or Medicare. Learn more at ChooseWork.SSA.gov.
- The IRS supports employment for people who have disabilities with the ABLÉ to Work Act Provision, allow more money to be deposited into an ABLÉ account.

Ticket To Work

- NDI's American Dream Employment Network (ADEN) can help SSI/SSDI beneficiaries to work to their fullest abilities and use the SSA work supports that help a person earn and save more and keep benefits, including Medicaid and Medicare, sometimes indefinitely.

Best Practice: Spending ABLÉ funds on Qualified Disability Expenses (QDEs)

- Deposit benefits into your checking account to pay for food, housing and monthly bills. Then deposit any extra funds into your ABLÉ account.
- A portion of earned income may be directly deposited into an ABLÉ account. Try to leave your deposits in your ABLÉ account to qualify for the maximum Saver's Tax Credit.

Keep In Mind

- For a person who receives a needs-based benefit like Supplemental Security Income (SSI) or Medicaid, federal tax refunds do not count as earned income. As a result, it does not impact eligibility for SSI or other federally funded benefits like Medicaid.
- Federal tax refunds do not count as a resource for a period of 12 months after the month of receipt, for SSI or any federally-funded public benefit.
- State tax refunds are not countable income the month received, but if held over to the next month, the funds are a countable resource.
- A person who relies on means-tested benefits either needs to spend down state tax refunds, deposit them into a qualified 1st time home buyer program, a SSA approved PASS plan or deposit the funds into an ABLE account.
