Treasurer Ma Announces Approval of Loan Modification for Distressed Hospital Loan Program

Borrowers still struggling can seek deferral or forgiveness of original loan

SACRAMENTO – State Treasurer Fiona Ma announced Thursday the approval of a loan modification process for hospitals that have received funds under the Distressed Hospital Loan Program (DHLP).

The DHLP provided nearly $300 million in one time funding for zero-interest loans to 16 California hospitals in significant financial distress, with the goal of helping them stay open or reopen and achieving long-term financial stability. The DHLP is jointly run by the California Health Facilities Financing Authority (CHFFA) and Department of Health Care Access and Information (HCAI).

Loan modification, as approved by CHFFA and HCAI, consists of a two-step process when certain eligibility measures have been met. Borrowers can first apply for a 12month extension of the deferral period and maturity date. The original loans carried a 72-month term with an 18-month payment deferment period. If step one is approved, borrowers may later apply for step two, if still experiencing financial distress, which would forgive the following 12-months of debt service payments.

"Many of these hospitals provide the only healthcare services for their communities, and ensuring their long-term viability is critical," said Treasurer Ma. "For those borrowers still struggling to find their footing, the loan modification process gives them two paths to needed breathing room."

Borrowers applying for either step must provide justification that, despite best efforts, the borrower remains in financial distress. Borrowers denied in either step may reapply after 12 months.

With today's approval, CHFFA will now alert borrowers of the loan modification application. The application and additional information about the loan modification process can be found at https://www.treasurer.ca.gov/chffa/programs/dhlp.asp.
